

New Jersey Center for Tourette Syndrome and Associated Disorders

50 Division Street Suite 205 Somerville NJ 08876 1 877 NJTS INFO www.njcts.org

For Immediate Release

Contact: Nicole Greco
(O) 908-575-7350

“Tourette Syndrome and Difficulty With Sensory Processing and Integration” Webinar July 21st

NJCTS presents no-cost presentation for parents, educators and health professionals

July 14, 2010- Sensory processing issues will be the focus of the latest in the Wednesday Webinar series on July 21, presented by the New Jersey Center for Tourette Syndrome. Individuals with TS often present with significant difficulty processing and integrating sensory information, and this impacts their responses to daily life events. This webinar will describe the variety of common sensory processing and integration problems and explore their impact on behavior and functional motor skills. In addition, strategies used to treat symptoms of these sensory difficulties and foster more appropriate responses to sensation will be described. All special needs families are encouraged to participate.

This webinar will be presented by Lesley Austin Geyer, MA, OTR/L; an occupational therapist with 30 years experience and advanced training in the assessment and treatments of individuals with sensory processing integration. She is the parent of an adult son with Tourette Syndrome and is president of the Pennsylvania Tourette Syndrome Alliance.

Professional development credits will be offered upon completion of the exit survey to educators and mental health professionals.

“Tourette Syndrome and Difficulty with Sensory Processing and Integration”

July 21, 2010

7:30 – 8:30 p.m. ET

Free; registration is required: <https://www1.gotomeeting.com/register/182252753>

For more information visit www.njcts.org or call 908-575-7350.

###

NJ Center for Tourette Syndrome- Collaborative partnerships for the TS community.
